LOGAN

Isabella and Finn Stapleton prepare for Halloween.

Spotlight turns to scary outfits

IF YOU see a number of skeletons, zombies and other creatures of that kind at the Logan MegaCentre on Saturday, do not be concerned.

Spotlight's Logan store, based at Slacks Creek's Logan MegaCentre, is holding a giant Halloween party, with the best-dressed child to win a voucher to further improve their costume.

Spotlight Logan store manager Sue Stapleton said Halloween had become big business in Australia.

"In the past, people have gone 'Oh, Halloween, that's American'," she said. "But instead of just thinking that it's a tradition from another country, I think people are embracing it.

"We've got a big party happening on that Saturday of Halloween. They can come into the store ...

"We have a best-dressed competition (and) we've got games, lollies and giveaways for all the kids.

"We've always been in the party business, but Halloween's just getting bigger and bigger in Australia every year."
