

THE GOOD GUYS ARE MOVING IN

THE winds of change will sweep through Main Street, Pakenham, when The Good Guys opens its doors this month.

Hardy's Retravision will be no more, as it makes its transformation to Hardy's The Good Guys, but owner Dan O'Loughlan said a lot will remain the same at the long-standing store.

"We have been fortunate enough to be able to keep all the employees from my existing store and the team is thrilled about their future with Hardy's The Good Guys," Dan said.

Born and bred in Pakenham, Dan is excited about continuing relationships with the Pakenham community.

"The Hardy family are really proud to be behind this and we're really looking forward to strengthening the bonds that began more than 57 years ago with this special community," Dan said.

to each community it operates in via a Local Giving Program.

The program has raised more than $4 million for 150 charities nationally since its inception in 2008.

Mr O'Loughlan said the store was searching for a charity partner. "I strongly believe in giving back to the community I have had the privilege of growing up in, and I'm urging local charities and causes to come forward and put up their hand to partner with us," Dan said.

"We are proud to offer the chosen community partner 20c from every purchase made in store," Dan said.

Hardy's The Good Guys Pakenham officially opens on Monday 13 August at 20 Station Street, Pakenham.
